Ever since its first edition in 2002, the Lodz East Asian Meeting gathers scholars, researchers, and students from all disciplines that specialize in East Asian studies. Being the first academic conference of its kind in Poland, it has gradually become one of the most important venues for academic exchange in the field. In the previous years, it was possible to invite international speakers as well as renowned specialists to take part in the conference. This year the conference will be dedicated to the new dynamics in East Asia from political, social and economy perspective. The selected papers will be published in the new book series run by the Department of East Asian Studies of Contemporary Asian Studies Series.
